

BUSINESS STOP

If business is the only thing on your mind when landing at Johannesburg's OR Tambo International, then check in at the five-star Peermont D'oreale Grande at Emperors Palace. Executive amenities abound, including unlimited high-speed Wi-Fi, international cellphone chargers, shoe-polishing and car valet services, a wide selection of books and newspapers, and secretarial services such as typing, scanning, photocopying and faxing. An executive guest-only floor has been transformed into a chic workplace where you can have private meetings and the hotel will provide the equipment you need. You won't even have to leave the building if you want to wind down after a long day – Emperors Palace offers a variety of entertainment, from the casino to live performances.

How to get there: Hop on the Gautrain bus from Rhodesfield Station. Complimentary private transfers to and from OR Tambo Airport are also available. www.doreale.com

What's in your travel bag? My handbag (it's more of a tote, actually), Evian Face Mist, Chanel make-up and my iPad. In my suitcase there are killer heels and many outfit options.
Your travel fetish? Anywhere with a view and that's rich in culture, art, food, wine and fashion.

Best destination? Paris is always a good idea!
Favourite travel read? Under the Tuscan Sun by Frances Mayes (Broadway Books). I met the love of my life under that sun.

Ooh-la-la!

Online shopping has made gifting much easier. One fabulous addition to the digital offering is The Ooh! Box, created by Capetonians Philippa Husband-Mitchell and Jaco Schoeman. For them, "ooh!" moments are meant to be shared and arrive already paired to savour accordingly. The contents differ each month, but the box will always contain a similar arrangement, valued at R600-R800 (four bottles of wine, an olive oil, a drizzle or condiment, one hot drink, one sweet treat and one tasty treat). You can either subscribe for a fixed monthly fee (and receive a box a month) or order a once-off box as a gift. The price is R495 per month and includes delivery to your door. www.theoohbox.com philippa@theoohbox.com
